

DESCRIPTION

Joyce works as a social entrepreneur in Rotterdam. She founded her own company and has now multiple big and medium sized international company's as customers. She helps them to create awareness about and reduce their ecological footprint.

Joyce has no children and does not like cooking, but goes out with her friends to eco-friendly restaurants. She loves trying new foods and posts them on her social media. During the corona lockdown she's finding a way to get that same 'restaurant' experience at home.

"I need an easy way to eat healthier and leave less of an ecological footprint "

